

Microshading- this technique has become popular with our clients. It involves a very soft application to the skin. I usually tell my clients, if they are experiencing any pain during the procedure, they need to inform me, because, unlike tattooing eyebrows, this procedure is so much less painful. This particular type of application requires several passes across the skin because it is a lighter technique. However, the results are softer and more “powdery”. I usually recommend that someone receive a touch up every 12 to 14 months.

Microblading-During the microblading process, we use a manual method of implanting the pigment in hair-like strokes in the epidermis to create the look of fuller brows. By utilizing the manual method and hand-held device. we are able to achieve natural-looking results. Although microbladed brows will not require daily maintenance, normally this type of tattooing requires a regular touch up every 10 to 12 months.

Eyeliner- I find that a lot of my clients are very apprehensive about this type of tattooing because I am working more closely to the eye. However, do not be discouraged. I make sure that you are fully numbed and relaxed before this procedure. I usually make 2 to 3 passes across the skin, stopping and reassuring my clients during the process.

Lip tinting, Lip Lining, and Lip Blushing-

This procedure is considered a tattooing technique. My client is actively involved in choosing the correct color. Again, I focus on comfort. I always numb my client for 15 to 20 minutes prior to tattooing. Most of my clients are very comfortable during the procedure. There is some swelling and “sloughing off” of the top layer of the skin during the healing process. Normally, I ask that my clients have four followup appointments. The results are absolutely beautiful.

“Permanent Makeup accentuates the beauty that is in all of us.” I feel that we do deserve “shortcuts” such as permanent makeup in our daily routine that can allow us to focus on other issues that are important in our lives such as having more time to spend with our family.

Finally, it is my desire when you come to your appointment that you are involved in the whole process. We will discuss the shape and color of the application. I want my client to leave happy knowing that they have had a great experience.
